B219 Intelligent Systems
Announcement #1

20th Feb 2003

1. Welcome to the first week of lecture. For those of you at South Street, I hope you guys are enjoying the unit as much as I have. For those at Rockingham, I’ll see you on Friday.

2. The Lecture One materials, unit guide and tutorial sheet have been posted. I’ll put up the subsequent materials and project sheet as soon as possible.

3. I hope that you have been reading Chapter 1 and please continue to read the subsequent chapters.

4. Lab/tutorial – I have received the following information on the lab arrangement at South Street campus:

   Mon 14:30 – 16:30 (SC2.32) and
   Wed 11:30 – 13:30 (SC 2.31)

   Rockingham – Fri 13:00 – 15:00 (Roc1)

   Please nominate one of these sessions and I’d appreciate that you guys will spread out over the two sessions. I’d like to keep some space for our external students. I’ll pass the list around next Monday to confirm your preference.

   Your tutor will be Mr Samea Wood. Samea is a PhD student and he finished his Honours degree earlier. I have my complete confidence in him to assist you and I believe you’ll find the same. Don’t hesitate to ask him for help or advice if needed.

5. Communicate with me – I am on phone, email and msn messenger. Please use my other email account: lanceccfung@ieee.org if you are going to use msn messenger. We can chat when you and I are online next time. Just identify yourself and I know you’re in the B219 class.

6. OK, so much for now, have a great weekend and I’ll see you next Monday.
